GENERAL INFORMATION

UCCS does not have a veterinary medicine program. Pre-Veterinary Medicine Prep is not a major or a minor, but a listing of prerequisite courses and recommendations needed to be eligible for admission into CSU's School of Veterinary Medicine & Biological Sciences in Ft. Collins, CO. Well-prepared, highly motivated students may be able to complete all of the pre-requisites within two years, although most successful applicants have completed four years of college. Students in the pre-veterinary medicine program are advised to major in General Biology through the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences.

Other programs may have different requirements. Students should check admissions requirements for all schools to which they plan to apply. Completion of prerequisite coursework does not guarantee acceptance into any professional degree.

Application Information for the CSU School of Veterinary Medicine, including contact information, application materials, deadlines, and testing, can be found at: <https://vetmedbiosci.colostate.edu/dvm/>

PRE-VETERINARY MEDICINE INFORMATION

All courses should be completed with a grade of C- or better, but a cumulative GPA of 3.3 or higher is recommended for application. NOTE: Genetics and Biochemistry must be taken within 3-5 years prior to admission. All other courses should be taken within the last 10 years. Many of these courses have prerequisites. Check the catalog for course details. http://catalog/uccs.edu While no minimum number of animal care contact hours is required, it is highly recommended to have some animal care as well as experience volunteering with a vet prior to application.	REQUIRED Courses for Application to CSU School of Veterinary Medicine
